Open Letter of Recommendation for Jared Vanscoder

To Whom It May Concern:

Please allow me to submit this letter of recommendation on behalf of Jared Vanscoder in support of his pursuit of future employment.

During Jared's Summer Internship here at T W Design, I have personally witnessed the commitment he has made to not only the daily responsibilities and obligations of his role as an employee of T W Design, but to the career goals he has established for himself, proving to be extremely competent and creative in each project opportunity he has been presented with. In these first steps of his T W career, he has been dedicated to the process and philosophy that guides our efforts on a daily basis in our pursuit of success. He has confidently managed not only routine assignments and workloads, but made a positive contribution to the many challenges and schedule demands of our industry. He has displayed a thorough understanding of Auto Cad and computer skills in general, made great strides in understanding and implementing designs for processes that he was un-initiated to prior to this internship, and has applied his many skill-sets to improve the workplace experience for our entire employee community. His positive work ethic and congenial attitude are well respected by all.

It has been a pleasure to work with Jared, and have high hopes that our working relationship will have the opportunity to travel parallel paths in the future. As Jared seeks new career opportunities in the future, I am confident that he will be capable of directing the same kind of energy and positive effort into whatever work environment he pursues.

Please do not hesitate to contact me personally to discuss Jared's experience, qualifications, or preparedness to pursue a position with your organization.

Sincerely,

Roger A. Farkash
